Appendix A: Roles and Responsibilities<sup>1</sup>

The responsibilities of the Commission are to:

- provide impartial and expert advice to the government on economic infrastructure through a national infrastructure assessment and specific studies;
- ensure that recommendations are in line with the remit (including the fiscal remit) set by the Chancellor, and that the NIC includes a transparent assessment of impact on costs to businesses, consumers, public bodies and other end users of infrastructure that would arise from implementing a proposal;
- ensure that the evidence and analysis behind the recommendations is robust;
- monitor the government's progress in delivering endorsed recommendations through an annual monitoring report; and
- in conjunction with the Chief Executive, formulate a strategy and a work programme to deliver the NIC's objectives in line with the terms of this framework document, the Charter and the Chancellor's remit letter to the Commission.

In addition to his responsibilities as a commissioner, the specific responsibilities of the Chair are to:

- provide strategic leadership for the Commission, setting priorities and ensuring the independence of the Commission's recommendations;
- oversee delivery of the NIC's work, including the NIA, specific studies and monitoring reports;
- direct the other commissioners' input, harnessing their skills, experience and expertise;
- engage with stakeholders, including government, industry, academia, interest groups and the public;
- represent the NIC in public, including in the media and at public events;
- ensure that the work of the Commission and its members is reviewed and that they are working effectively; and
- consult with the Chancellor on the balance of skills on the Commission, and advise the Chancellor on the Commission's needs when vacancies arise.

The specific responsibilities of Commissioners are to:

- provide expert, impartial advice to the government on infrastructure working with the Chair and other commissioners to shape and develop the national infrastructure assessment and specific studies;
- engage with the government, industry, interest groups and other stakeholders to promote the NIC and gather a wide range of views on future infrastructure needs and solutions;
- support the Chair in representing the NIC in public, including in the media and at public events, particularly on issues where commissioners have individual expertise;
- comply at all times with the code of practice and the 'Code of conduct for board members of public bodies', including the rules relating to the use of public funds and conflicts of interest.
