

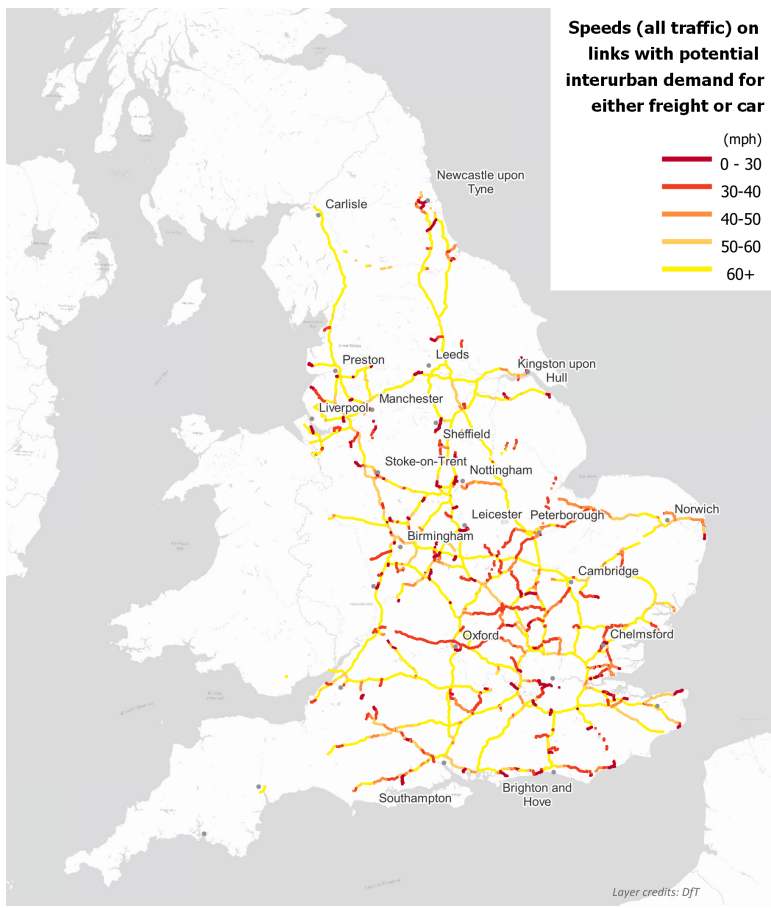

Figure 1: Average road speeds vary across the country, with a number of important routes having relatively slow average speeds. These often include A roads running east to west

Average speeds of the road network on links with high levels of potential interurban demand for either freight or car traffic

Source: Steer analysis for National Infrastructure Commission, using Department for Transport (2022) Average speed, delay and reliability of travel times (CGN)